

Welcome to the United States Army Operational Test Command (USAOTC),

The USAOTC Family Program is a unique organization comprised of Military, Civilian, Contracting personnel, Retirees, and all Families (immediate or extended). We have a unique integrated Family Support Network where we work to strengthen and enhance the overall well being of the unit by leveraging and communicating various resources that can provide support to all individuals located in all areas.

Education, employment, resources, communication, support, unit & FRG events, and wellness are vital to the well being of our members and Families. We aim to connect you with resources that will empower, mentor, and build resilience for all members.

By leveraging the resources and programs that can benefit all members, we hope to instill a sense of enhanced community spirit that will ultimately benefit the entire community population.

As you transition into the unit, (as well as in the community) please take a moment to scan our QR code (below) using your iPhone, Android, or other camera - enabled Smartphone. With this code, you can link to the U.S. Army Operational Test Command homepage and access all the information you need regarding USAOTC; from the breakdown of our Organization, to finding installation programs, the USAOTC QR code will link you up to digital content on the USAOTC homepage.
